

responsibility of this veto rest exactly where it belongs, on the shoulders of the Governor. And, with that, I withdraw my motion to override LB 185.

PRESIDENT: The motion is withdrawn. Do you have anything further, Mr. Clerk?

CLERK: Senator, may I assume that that motion on 185A is withdrawn then as well? Thank you.

SENATOR HABERMAN: I get a few more minutes, I guess, Mr. President, to speak on 185A. I would like to say this to the body. For those of you who believed in 185, I would like to suggest to you that you do not vote to override any veto because there is going to be an attempt to try and steal four to $5 million out of the budget and I feel so bitter about this that if we can't get it for the farmers, nobody else should have it also. So I ask those people who really believe in 185 to vote red on all of the vetoes. Thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT: Thank you. It is withdrawn also. Mr. Clerk.

CLERK: Mr. President, the next bill or the next particular veto for consideration for possible override relates to LB 784, and the first motion filed on that bill, Mr. President, after the Appropriations Committee report is one offered by Senator Withem. (Read Withem motion on page 2737 of the Legislative Journal.)

PRESIDENT: Senator Withem, please.

SENATOR WITHEM: Yeah, Mr. President and members of the body, if you would look at your sheets here so you will understand exactly what it is I am doing here. If you notice the cuts in state aid to education are broken down into two separate places. Item 6 or Section 6 on your sheet is a $1.9 million of state aid to education. That is not the one we are dealing with in this particular motion. If we were to override both vetoes, keep in mind all we would be doing is coming back to this year's level of state aid to education. If we were to override both vetoes, I am using Senator Vard Johnson's trick here of repeating for emphasis. If we were to override both vetoes, we would be only back to a break-even point in the state aid to education portion of the budget. If we do not override the 1.9, which I am sure we will not, I have a motion up there to that effect but I believe I am going to withdraw it, we will be $1.9 million less.
